

RUAE

What is RUAE?

RUAE stands for Reading for Understanding, Analysis, and Evaluation

Important Info:

- This section of the exam is worth 30 marks, which equates to 30% of the candidate's grade
- N5 have 1 hour to sit this portion of the exam
- H have 1 hour and 30 minutes to sit this portion of the exam

How to prepare for RUAE

- The RUAE paper will use a recent newspaper article, of a certain standard vocabulary.
- There is no way to tell which article will be used, but a good habit to get into is reading one quality piece of journalism per week.
 - Select an article relevant to your interests (a review of a football match, concert or film perhaps)
 - Highlight any difficult words you encounter
 - Use the context of the paragraph to help you work out meaning or use a dictionary

How to prepare for RUAЕ

- There are many question types that pupils will have to learn and practice, many of these revolving around the understanding skill
- A helpful revision task for your young person may be for them to read a newspaper article, and then explain (in their own words) what it is about to you
- This will develop their summarising skills, as well as their vocabulary

Common Question Types

- The question types that make up the most marks in the RUAE paper are In Your Own Words and Word Choice questions
- IYOW; tests the candidate's understanding of information that the writer has given by identifying said information, and translating the meaning into their own words
- Word Choice; asks the candidate to quote an interesting word(s), analyse the connotations, and use this to answer the question

In Your Own Words

Wilson had a range of objections to the proposals for the new Visitor Centre. He considered them as suffering from an ignorance of the local culture. In addition, he viewed the motives behind the ideas as having their foundation purely in the realms of commercial interests. Another major problem was the fact that the building itself was planned for an area which would quickly become congested if a lot of cars attempted to head in its general direction. Following on from that, any additional parking facilities would encroach on the Town Commons, an area of stunning natural beauty. In fact, he could only see problems if the Planning Committee approved the scheme.

Using your own words, explain Wilson's objections to the proposals for the new Visitor Centre. (4)

In Your Own Words

“suffering from an ignorance of the local culture”

“he viewed the motives behind the ideas as having their foundation purely in the realms of commercial interests”

“quickly become congested if a lot of cars attempted to head in its general direction”

“Following on from that, any additional parking facilities would encroach on the Town Commons, an area of stunning natural beauty.”

Bad Answer

Wilson thought that the proposals were ignorant about the town’s culture. He also thought they were for commercial reasons and there would be a lot of congestion with cars if the plans were approved. He also felt that the park which had a lot of natural beauty would be messed up by additional parking facilities.

“Following on from that, any additional parking facilities would encroach on the Town Commons, an area of stunning natural beauty.”

Good Answer

- The Visitor Centre did not show enough awareness of the town’s traditions and customs.
- The proposals were only interested in making money.
- There would be traffic jams due to more people heading to the Centre.
- More parking spaces would be needed and they would have to use space from the picturesque parklands in the town

Word Choice

Top tips;

- Aim to quote 1 or 2 words, no more
- Always analyse the connotations of the word(s)
- Always link this analysis back to the question

Example structure;

- “Pirate”
- This has connotations of stealing or being unlawful.
- This suggests...

Word Choice

In the past few years, though, a new breed of ‘good Samaritan’ has swaggered on to social media, toting wads of cash. They include one TikTok user who drops £20 notes at strangers’ feet and gifts his targets extra cash if they attempt to return them, and another who films himself hovering behind unsuspecting shoppers at the till as he pays their checkout bills.

By referring to the writer’s word choice, explain how the writer’s criticism of public acts of kindness is made clear. (2)

Word Choice

Example Answer (N5);

2

- “Swaggered” ✓
- This has connotations of arrogance, or thinking you are above others.
- This suggests that the writer thinks that those who give to others in public are arrogant, and are just doing so for attention. ✓

Example Answer (Higher);

1

- “Swaggered”
- This has connotations of arrogance, and an inflated sense of self.
- This suggests that the writer considers those who give to others in public see themselves as superior to others, and are conceited in the way they crave positive attention. ✓
